

Geology

Students interested in graduate studies in geology should see the separate section in this catalog for the earth, environmental and physical sciences (EEPS) Master of Science program for details. This program offers advanced training in research, knowledge and skills in geology, environmental science or physics. For students concentrating their efforts in geology, the following courses are available for graduate credit in this degree program.

Courses in Geology

- Geology (GEOL) (<http://catalog.wichita.edu/graduate/courses/geol/>)