

Certificate in Voice Acting

This interdisciplinary curriculum consists of a combination of required courses that provide a wide range of knowledge in acting, voice and audio production. Script analysis and acting courses train the student in the craft of character creation and story-telling. Improving voice and diction and expressive voice or dialects courses develop the ability to use the voice more effectively. The voice acting course covers different types of copy, setting up a home studio, aspects of the profession and creating reels. The audio production course provides knowledge and hands on use of standard audio production equipment and teaches techniques of sound blending and reproduction. The performance practicum course ensures that the student has a practical application component in their study.

Admission

Students intending to pursue the certificate in voice acting need to set up an appointment with the administrator of the certificate, the program director of theatre.
